AN AGE OF UNREST

Theme of Address to University Law Graduates.

ADVICE GIVEN TO CLASS

Warning Against Aiding in Evasion of Law—Winners of Prizes and Diplomas.

"Few men would assist a criminal in planning a murder, but it is a shame to the profession that so many so-called lawyers will for a large fee assist the criminal in evading the law and the penalty of his guilty act."
 So declared Representative Arthur W. Kopp, Wisconsin, in an address to the graduating class of the National University Law School, at the commencement exercises last evening, in the New National Theatre.

One Reason for Unrest.

"You will frequently be called upon to assist men to do business in spite of law, or to evade it, and the fact that members of our profession have been willing to assist men who wish to do business in spite of law, is one of the causes of the unrest and dissatisfaction today. There ought not to be any doubt in the mind of the lawyer that what is unlawful, the legal profession can do more to remove this doubt; can do more to see that the laws are obeyed, and respected, than all other classes combined."

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Woodrow, pastor of the First Congregational Church. Rev. Dr. Woodrow, pastor of the church, presided at the exercises. Degrees were conferred by Rev. Dr. Woodrow, chancellor of the church. Musical selections were played by the Marine Band, under the direction of Lieut. W. H. Santelmann.

W. A. Brooke, Montgomery county's automobile deputy, had a narrow escape from serious injury while chasing a speeding automobile yesterday afternoon. His machine was damaged. The autoist he was after escaped, and was later speeding in the direction of Washington at a lively rate.

The machine that caused the trouble was a gray racer bearing a District of Columbia license number 1000. It was chased about four miles into Rockville. Shortly after entering Rockville Brooke overtook the gray machine, which contained three men and as he attempted to pass it the driver of the fugitive auto pulled sharply to the right, forcing Brooke's machine into a telephone pole. This brought the chase to an end and allowed the speeder to escape. Brooke, thinking he would be able to locate the motorist.

The deputy spent the greater part of the afternoon patrolling the roads about Rockville and paced a large number of machines. Only two, however, in addition to the one that got away, were found to be exceeding the speed limit of twenty-five miles an hour, and the operators were placed under arrest. The Monthly Grouch.

By WALT MASON

He gaily goes into the stores and buys brick cheese and oven doors and things and has them charged; the smile he wears is good to see; with fifty-seven kinds of glee his bosom seems enlarged. He seems to like the little graft of buying up a whole blamed raft of goods if divers sorts; and strangers seeing him would say: "He surely has a queeny way! He seems a prince of sports!" But on the first day of the month—collection day, say June the oneth—his sweet smiles aren't there; and when the tired collector comes he snorts around and haws and hums, as savage as a bear. "This bill must be corrected, please; I didn't buy that Switzer cheese nor yet that stovepipe hat; you have me charged with potted meat—it simply wasn't fit to eat—I will not pay for that! Your prices are too beastly high; you soak me, for you know that I am always prompt to pay; take back your bill and make it right, then come around next Thursday night—don't bother me today!" The wain collector, tired and pale, must camp upon this fellow's trail and circumvent his wiles; and still the villain she pursues until she wears out all her shoes and sickens of his smiles.
